

Well, here it is: once, in a pet shop, I really wanted to adopt a puppy but my parents wouldn't let me.

'You'll get one for Christmas if you're good,' they told me. But it was too long a wait!

So I started bugging them every night...

... and did everything I could to be the opposite of a good girl.

But Christmas has finally come and and I really regret my behavior now...

You think so?

Of course!

Well, if you ask me, you should tell your parents everything and ask them for forgiveness.

Then, that's what I'll do.

Promise?

Promise!